

Lisa Warren Long Bio

Lisa Warren is a composer, singer/songwriter, harpist/multi-instrumentalist, and relaxation musician from Ontario Canada.

In a world that often rushes by, Lisa Warren captivates hearts and minds with the ethereal and mesmerizing sounds of her harp and voice. She creates intricate melodies that transport listeners to a realm of tranquility and serenity, evoking feelings of peace and renewal.

Lisa Warren discovered her passion for the harp at a later age after a long family battle with mental and physical illness. It was as if the instrument chose her, resonating with her soul and becoming an extension of her being. From that moment, she knew her purpose was to share the healing power of music with the world.

The ethereal sounds of her harp and the sweetness of her voice intertwine, creating an atmosphere of tranquility and peace. Prepare to be transported to a realm of relaxation and renewal, where you'll feel like a whole new person under the spell of her mesmerizing music.

Beyond her musical talents, Lisa Warren is a kind and genuine soul. She is deeply connected to her listeners and values the impact her music has on their lives. Her humility and compassion shine through in every interaction, making her not just a gifted musician but also an empathetic friend to those who resonate with her art.

Lisa Warren continues to grow as an artist learning new techniques, and instruments, using various music gear and software to become the best musician she can be.

Immerse yourself in the sounds of her harp and voice, and experience the magic of becoming a whole new person, renewed and rejuvenated by the power of music.
